Keynote Speaker: Eli Hinkel, PhD

Professor (Linguistics/TESOL), Seattle Pacific University

Eli Hinkel has taught ESL and applied linguistics, as well as trained teachers, for almost thirty five years. She has published numerous books and articles on learning second culture, and second language grammar, writing, and pragmatics. Her recent books deal with research in second language learning, the effects of culture on teaching and language learning, approaches to teaching L2 grammar, language features of L2 written text, and practical techniques for teaching L2 academic writing. She is also the editor of the Routledge ESL & Applied Linguistics Professional Series of books and textbooks for teachers and graduate students. A respected speaker, she has presented widely in North America and many countries around the world and was one of the invited speakers for the 2012 TESOL International Convention in Philadelphia. http://www.elihinkel.org/

Keynote Address: Connecting Diverse Perspectives in Teaching Writing

This presentation takes a detailed look at the past and present perspectives on teaching L2 writing. The talk begins with the convergence of composition and applied linguistics research into L2 writing properties and a bit of history. Then the discussion moves on to an overview of current trends and widely adopted models in academic writing instruction, including their pros, cons, and potential usefulness for teaching and learning.

Breakout Session: Academic Writing – The Vocabulary Connection

This session is all about the findings of studies that specifically focus on academic vocabulary essential to improve the quality of L2 writing. Effective teaching techniques are suggested to increase L2 learners' productive vocabulary base and lead to a noticeable improvement in the L2 text quality.
A Word from the Conference Chair

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the Maryland TESOL 35th Annual Fall Conference at Washington College, in Chestertown. Thank you for your attendance and participation in this valuable professional event.

This year's conference draws attendance from all over the state – from far western Maryland to right here on the beautiful Eastern Shore, and from beyond our state and country as well. We welcome those who have traveled long distances to come here! Among those attending are leading ESL professionals and representatives of prominent institutes. Speakers include school and state professionals, academic scholars, and researchers, who will present and discuss the latest most significant topics in the field, with a common goal of furthering the education of the English language learners in our state. Our goal is to provide a forum to discuss the challenges and opportunities facing our students, teachers and schools. From the exploration of best practices to research-based innovations in the field, the MD-TESOL fall conference serves as a nidus for the exchange of ideas.

In addition, we hope that this conference provides an excellent opportunity to meet with others, both practitioners and experts, in the field. Indeed, Maryland TESOL’s 35th Annual Fall Conference offers a great opportunity for networking and learning about resources in order to best achieve our professional goals. Be sure you visit our exhibitors and vendors area and explore the teaching materials available.

I would like to thank the Maryland TESOL Board members, Washington College, the volunteers, and the presenters for helping to make this day possible. Indeed, it ‘takes a village” to put on a conference! A special thanks goes to Yeji Yoon, the Maryland TESOL President, for her tireless help, guidance and support. Special thanks also to the 2nd Vice President, Sherry Lyons, the Treasurer, Rahila Siddiqui, and the Technology and Digital Communication Coordinator, Charles Shimonkevitz. Finally, deepest thanks to Shirley Loller and John Hepler, of Washington College.

Welcome again to Maryland TESOL 35th Annual Fall Conference!

Sincerely,

Karen Blinder

Karen Blinder
A Word from the President

On behalf of the 2015-16 Maryland TESOL Board, I would like to welcome everyone to our 35th Annual Fall Conference. This year, our conference theme is Beyond Borders: Connecting Diverse Perspectives, and we cordially welcome Dr. Eli Hinkel as our keynote speaker.

The MDTESOL Annual Fall Conference is our capstone event where our goal to provide a dynamic platform for ESOL professionals and dedicated parties is realized. People from various teaching and learning backgrounds come together to discuss the challenges and opportunities facing our students, teachers and schools; from exploration of best practices, to research based innovations in the field, to advocating for the improvement of resources and conditions of English Language Learners(ELLs) and ESL professionals. Publishers and other educational vendors exhibit the latest textbooks and educational resources to help ESL professionals better meet the needs of ELLs.

In addition to our Annual Fall Conference, this year is the pilot year for the Maryland TESOL Strategic Plan which was approved at our 2015 Spring Dinner. We are looking forward to this trial period in hopes to help the organization become more efficient in focusing its energy on ensuring quality benefits for its members and assessing and adjusting the organization’s directions in response to the ever-changing environment.

Finally, the TESOL International Convention & English Language Expo is back in Baltimore for its 50th anniversary. Maryland TESOL is honored to be hosting the largest professional development event in the TESOL field. We will need volunteers! We will need creative ideas! We will need YOU! Please feel free to reach out to us for any suggestions. We are here to represent you.

I would like to thank Washington College for welcoming us to their beautiful campus, our Conference Chair, Karen Blinder, for organizing the conference, the Board for being a committed team, and our conference attendees for sharing your time and expertise. I ask you to stay engaged throughout the year, keep us proactive, and help us shape the future of ESL teaching and learning.

Enjoy!

Sincerely,

Yeji Yoon

Yeji Yoon
Welcome from the President of Washington College

Sheila Bair

Recently inaugurated as Washington College’s first female president, Sheila Bair has had a distinguished career in public service. Most notably, from 2006 through 2011, she served as the chair of the Federal Deposit Insurance Commission during the worst years of the subprime mortgage crisis and ensuing Great Recession. Furthering her desire to help families and the individual, at Washington College she has targeted education affordability and student debt as the first major themes of her tenure.

In 2011, she was named by the Washington Post and Harvard University as one of America’s seven top leaders. Forbes twice named her the second most powerful woman in the world, behind Germany’s Chancellor Angela Merkel. While at the FDIC, she earned a reputation for fiercely defending the interests of taxpayers, bank customers and homeowners. Afterward, she continued to share her policy expertise and advocate for financial reform while serving as a senior consultant to the Pew Charitable Trusts.

President Bair chronicled her experience as chair of the FDIC in Bull by the Horns: Fighting to Save Main Street from Wall Street and Wall Street from Itself, a New York Times bestseller published in September 2012. A prolific writer, she is a regular contributor to Fortune and has written three books for children that offer lessons in financial literacy.
Over a 30-year career, Jill Basye-Featherston has devoted herself to the needs of English Language Learners. Beginning in the mid 1980s, she launched her career by developing an English instruction program for drug rehabilitation patients in the New York City area. Jill spent the next ten years serving the ESL community there as a specialist in adolescent, adult, and alternative educational programming. The mid 1990s brought her to Baltimore where she taught at Notre Dame of Maryland University and the ESOL Center at Dumbarton Middle School. Additionally, Jill served as a specialist in foreign and second-language learning for the Maryland State Department of Education.

For the past 15 years, Jill Basye-Featherston has guided the Baltimore City Schools ESOL program, overseeing ESOL teaching and learning at the preschool, elementary, middle, and high-school levels. Through curriculum development, data analysis, personnel direction, and personal commitment, she navigated the city school district’s ever-growing and multi-national ELL population throughout the many changes demanded by state and federal educational initiatives. Her involvement in and dedication to Baltimore city’s culturally diverse immigrant and refugee population has helped create a welcoming and successful educational environment for the area’s new Americans.

Jill and her husband live in Baltimore County and have two children. She holds a BA in Secondary Education, Spanish Language and Literature; and has earned two masters degrees: MATESOL (Applied Linguistics) and M. Ed Leadership for Bilingual Educators.

Podcasting in a Listening and Pronunciation Class
Bakla, Arif
Session I – Daly 108 (Research)
IS: Higher Ed

This study reports the experiences of 8 EFL learners, using podcasts in a listening and pronunciation class. In this study, I explore what it means to be a part of a lesson that is different from mainstream classes. The participants to this presentation will gain insight into the pedagogical affordances and problems of introducing novelty into the class.

Dr. Arif Bakla is a lecturer at FLE Department at Cumhuriyet Uni., Sivas, Turkey. He holds a PhD degree in ELT. Currently, he is a visiting professor to Department of English, Iowa State Uni. Among his research interests are web-based language instruction, LMSs, learner autonomy and L2 writing.

Wikipedia: Gateway to Academic Writing
Dolina, Anna
Session I – Smith 222 (Practice)
IS: Secondary Ed, Higher Ed

Writing an article for Wikipedia offers ELLs a range of opportunities to encounter conventions and practice skills that underlie academic writing in American universities. Assignment resources as well as the experiences of university-bound students and their writing teacher will be shared.

Anna Dolina teaches at the ELI of Notre Dame of Maryland University. She earned her M.Ed. and M.A.TESOL degrees from Johns Hopkins and NDMU respectively.

Reporting from Far Western Maryland: How Close Are Your ELL Issues to Ours?
Dolly, Martha Rowe
Session I – Smith 332 (Practice)
IS: Higher Ed, Secondary Ed, Adult Ed, Elementary Ed

We invite Eastern Shore, and other, participants to discuss ELL challenges unique to rural areas.

Martha Dolly teaches linguistics, including L2 theory, at Frostburg State University and has directed a community ELL program in Cumberland. Kathleen Jancuk is ESL Coordinator at Bishop Walsh School and teaches ESL in Cumberland. Sharon Yoder teaches ESL at Allegany College of Maryland and formerly taught/tutored ESL in Garrett County.

<td></td>
<td>There are always questions about which grammar to teach. This is true whether we are using textbooks that don’t always meet our students’ needs or whether we are developing our own materials. In this workshop participants will consider when and why we decide what grammar points to introduce. Samuela Eckstut is a senior lecturer at CELOP and an author. Her most recent publication is Grammar Explorer 3, published by National Geographic Cengage Learning. She holds a BA in African-Islamic Studies, a MA in African history, a M.Ed in TESOL, and a Royal Society of Arts Certificate in TEFL from the British Council in Athens, Greece.</td>

Using Talking Circles to Build Community and Fluency

Miller, Katherine
Session I – Smith 113 (Practice)

As schools rethink zero-tolerance discipline policies, and ELLs lag academically, students urgently need to feel supported, manage conflict, and develop English proficiency. How can teachers use Restorative Practices as a means to build community and fluency? The presenter reports on action research and demonstrates using Circles in grades 6-12.

Katherine Duda Miller has taught ESOL, ELL math, and general education English content in Baltimore City and Frederick County Public Schools.

Developing Multimodality through News Show Projects

Nakata, Mamiko
Session I – Daly 106 (Workshop)

Designed to enhance communication practices among college students, this project promotes students’ understanding of news storytelling while enhancing their delivery in front of a camera and learning the basics of recording and editing using iMovie. Handouts, including rubrics, will be available.

Mamiko Nakata has taught ESL and EFL learners in a variety of contexts ranging from public K-12 and community colleges in Maryland to universities in Tokyo. She is currently a lecturer in the English Department at Kanda University of International Studies in Japan. Mamiko holds a MEd in TESOL from the University of Maryland, College Park.

If Clauses – Some of Us Don’t Know Them Ourselves

Nelson, John
Session I – Smith 110 (Practice)

This presentation presents two kinds of IF clauses, one meaning "contrary-to-fact," the other, "maybe". Participants will gain a more specific understanding of these two different uses and get ideas for how these clauses can be presented to ELLs, including using contexts to help ELLs master these.

John Nelson is the Co-Director of the TESOL Program at UMBC. He has had a career of 50 years in teaching ELLs and teachers of ELLs. He has taught in Africa, the Middle East, and South America as well as in North America. His primary area of interest is teaching Grammar to ELLs

The Writing Process—Reimagined
Blankenbaker, Vance & Shaffee, Shenaz
Session II – Daly 107 (Workshop)
IS: Teacher Ed, Adult Ed, Higher Ed

The writing process hasn’t evolved much; how we teach it has. Workshop participants will scaffold quick-writing assignments using interaction and reflection, peer review, and smartphones for integrated skills. Participants will experience writing as a social, meaningful, and motivating process.

Vance Blankenbaker is the director of teacher training and professional development at the LADO Institute. Shenaz Shaffee is the director of academics at the LADO Institute.

Essential Academic Skills for ESL Students
Gimble, Claire
Session II – Smith 332 (Practice)
IS: Higher Ed, Secondary Ed, Adult Ed

Many of our students need to understand and adapt to the social and educational systems in the USA as well as acquire strong study skills appropriate to second-language learners. In this presentation, we will look at why our students need to develop study skills, and how to foster that development.

Claire Gimble is currently a teacher/administrator at Virginia International University. Connie Lee has both a teaching and administrative background. She is currently a full-time instructor at Virginia International University.

Cross-Cultural Challenges at a Small Liberal Arts College
Hepler, John
Session II – Smith 110 (Practice)
IS: Higher Ed, Teacher Ed

Faculty and administrators at small liberal arts colleges face many hurdles when confronted with a growing number of ELLs. This presentation highlights these challenges and steps that have been taken at one college to meet them, including development of a curriculum and developing or finding materials to assist faculty and administrators in interactions with ELLs.

John C. Hepler is the Director of English Language Learning at Washington College. Currently pursuing a Ph.D. from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in English, he has an M.A. in TESOL from West Chester University of Pennsylvania.
Teaching Literary Tone through Music

Hoenig, Myles & Damare, Erika
Session II – Smith 222 (Practice)

How do you convey the tone of a text? How do you think the author wants you to feel for the characters or the story? Through music, we will identify tone and transfer these skills to literature.

Myles Hoenig is a veteran high school ESOL teacher in Prince George’s County. He has served MD TESOL and TESOL International Association in many capacities. Erika Damare is a new ESOL teacher at the elementary level, also for PGCPS.

Are your ESL Students Being Bullied?

Hutton, Steve
Session II – Smith 336 (Workshop)

Bullying of ESL students is getting worse. ESL students find it hard to learn a new language, learn new content information, and fit into the school environment. Participants will learn strategies that work to prevent the bullying of ESL students, which can be implemented immediately.

Steve Hutton has been an educator for 40 years, has taught grades 1-12, and has been a principal and superintendent. Former High Skilled Educator, Kentucky Department of Education. He has been a local, state, regional and national Bully Prevention Trainer for the Kentucky Center for School Safety and is a former Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports Trainer.

The edTPA and its Implications for TESOL

Kidwell, Tabitha
Session II – Daly 106 (Practice)

The edTPA is coming to Maryland – are you and the novice ESOL teachers you work with prepared? Formerly the Teacher Performance Assessment, edTPA is an assessment of novice teaching abilities that will likely be required for K-12 licensure soon. This presentation will discuss the structure, development, implementation, and goals of the edTPA.

Tabitha Kidwell is a doctoral student in the Applied Linguistics and Language Education program at University of Maryland, College Park. She is also a Maryland TESOL board member. She has taught French, Spanish, and English, to students ranging from preschoolers to adults, on five continents. She also enjoys running and wearing funny hats.
Instruction for ELLs: From Unit to Daily Lessons
Moisan, Bonnie
Session II – Daly 218 (Workshop)
IS: Elementary Ed, Secondary Ed

Understand how it all fits together! A unit plan needs individual lesson plans that address CCSS and language objectives. Seem overwhelming? This presentation equips you with explanations, examples and sample lesson plans weaving learning goals and essentials of language content with Common Core.

Bonnie Moisan has an MA in Teaching (TESOL), is certified in K-12 by the DCPS and the state of Oregon, and has taught 14 years in DCPS as an ELL teacher. She has also taught EFL overseas and has taught adult English courses.

The Reading Paradox: Bilingual Education and ELL Instruction
Pentón Herrera, Luis Javier
Session II – Smith 113 (Practice)
IS: Secondary Ed

This paper evaluates the teaching practices of two of the most popular and innovative methods that exist today: ELL instruction and Bilingual Education. The purpose of this research is to contrast the implications of both approaches as two separate identities. In addition, the paradoxical relationship between these two methodologies of literacy instruction is explained.

Professor Luis J. Pentón-Herrera is a Cuban-born United States Marine Corps Veteran. He is currently pursuing his Ph.D. in Leadership: Reading, Language, and Literacy at Concordia University Chicago. Professor Pentón Herrera is a Spanish and ESL educator. His current research focuses on language acquisition, bilingual and multicultural education, and teaching techniques and strategies for ELLs.

Teaching ESL as a Second Career
Shin, Sarah
Session II – Smith 223 (Research)
IS: Teacher Ed, Graduate Studies

This paper presents the perspectives of four career-change ESL teachers as they struggled with the tensions and rewards of becoming novice teachers after having successful careers in other professional fields. It argues for recognizing the wealth and diversity of career-change teachers’ experiences and shows how that can benefit teacher education.

Sarah J. Shin is Professor of Education and Co-Director of the M.A. TESOL Program at the University of Maryland Baltimore County.
Digital Storytelling to Promote EFL Students’ Motivation

Xie, Jing

Session II – Smith 226 (Research)

This research describes a study showing that digital storytelling can greatly influence students’ motivation and efficiency in an EFL, content-based classroom. In the study, 60 students in China participated in groups to create their own digital stories. The results were evaluated with a survey.

Jing Xie, currently a visiting scholar at UMBC, is from China’s Three Gorges University.

Differentiating for ESOL Middle School Students

Zisselsberger, Margarita & Collins, Kristina

Session II – Daly 108 (Practice)

This teaching-tip workshop provides an overview of how a middle school teacher used formative assessment data (EasyCBM) to differentiate instruction and support linguistically and culturally diverse students in a mainstream ELA classroom. Participants will have a chance to practice the techniques they learn.

Margarita Zisselsberger is an assistant professor of literacy at Loyola University Maryland and is interested in bilingual language development. Kristina Collins is a middle school language arts teacher and the dual language coordinator of the two-way Spanish immersion school in Baltimore.

On the Importance of Contextualized Learning
Borodin, Yevgen
Session III – Smith 113 (Research – exhibitor presentation)
IS: Secondary Ed, Adult Ed, Higher Ed

The participants will learn about the research findings obtained in a school trial of Capti Narrator – an ESL learning tool that facilitates contextual vocabulary acquisition and helps students forge the link between their reading and listening skills.

Dr. Borodin has a Ph.D. in Computer Science from Stony Brook University, where he is a Research Assistant Professor. He is also the President of a start-up doing R&D on accessible reading. He co-authored 50 publications and patents on computational methods and accessibility. He received $4M dollars in research grants, FCC Chairman’s award and other awards.

Building Cultural Capital for ELL Students
Chung, May & Say, Vathany
Session III – Daly 108 (Workshop)
IS: Secondary Ed

The objective of our presentation is to enhance participants’ awareness of the connection between cultural capital and students’ academic needs. Strong cultural capital can help mitigate unfamiliar challenges for college non-native English speakers. Participants will be given a variety of resources to implement in their classroom.

May F. Chung is a doctoral student in the Language, Literacy, and Culture program at the UMBC, where she also teaches ESOL at the ELI and at CCBC. Vathany Say is a Masters student in the TESOL program at UMBC. She teaches ESOL at the ELI at UMBC.

Benefits of an Extracurricular Book Group
Garrido, Alex & Burke, Jill
Session III – Smith 110 (Practice)
IS: Secondary Ed, Adult Ed, Higher Ed

This presentation will show the benefits of getting students from different levels together to read for fun while paying attention to new vocabulary and pronunciation.

Professor Garrido has taught ESOL courses, full-time, at CCBC for seven years. He has presented at the National Conference on Acceleration and Maryland TESOL Conference, and he is a member of the MDTESOL Board. Jill Burke is currently employed as a Librarian at CCBC, and she is currently completing her Masters in ESL.

ESL Pronunciation Lab

*Hutchison, Nancy
Session III – Daly 106 (Workshop)
IS: Higher Ed, Secondary Ed

This new Lab helps students with pronunciation, academic discussions, presentations, field-specific vocabulary, and interview skills. Workshop participants will learn tips to create their own Lab in the future, or to assist their learners with these skills immediately in their own classrooms.

Nancy Hutchison has been teaching ESL at Howard Community College for 20+ years. Her interests in phonetics, phonology and linguistics have led to a career-long quest for best practices in teaching pronunciation. She learns something new every day from students and colleagues, and she enjoys training and mentoring new teachers.

Academic English and Critical Thinking through Films

Lee, Connie & Gimble, Claire
Session III – Smith 332 (Practice)
IS: Higher Ed, Secondary Ed

This presentation will explore an advanced academic English course taught using films exclusively with materials developed by the instructors. The presentation will focus primarily on oral communication, research, and critical thinking skills.

Connie Lee has both a teaching and administrative background. She is currently a full-time instructor at Virginia International University. Claire Gimble is currently a teacher/administrator at Virginia International University.

How to use 25,000 Cognate Words

Morán, Rubén
Session III – Daly 218 (Workshop)
IS: Elementary Ed, Secondary Ed, Adult Ed, Teacher Ed

Let's learn the 25,000 frequently used English words that are unmistakably understood by Spanish, French and Portuguese speakers. In this presentation, we will prove how we have disregarded for too long our students' extensive cognate vocabulary and we will learn how to start exploiting it.

Ruben Moran is the Academic Director of one of the largest English schools in Ecuador. He has been a teacher, teacher trainer, researcher and author for more than 20 years.
Studying Originality: A Unit on Using Sources Effectively and Avoiding Plagiarism
Mott-Smith, Jennifer
Session III – Smith 336 (Practice)
IS: Higher Ed

In this college composition course, students focus on understanding the cultural constructs of “originality” and “plagiarism” and the strong emotional reactions to plagiarism, developing a good note-taking process, understanding how citations function, and developing their creativity in writing.

Jennifer A. Mott-Smith is Associate Professor of English and ESOL Coordinator at Towson University. She has taught ESOL for over 25 years. Currently, she is working on a book to help teachers teach ELLs how to use sources effectively and avoid plagiarism.

Fun with Vowels
Verratti, Rosie & Jones, Tamara
Session III – Daly 107 (Workshop)
IS: Adult Ed, Higher Ed

Correct pronunciation of the peak vowel sound is essential to English pronunciation. However, due to the complexity of the English vowel system, students often struggle to hear and produce these crucial sounds. Presenters will suggest fun, practical ways to help students improve vowel production.

Rosie Verratti has over 10 years of experience in adult education. She is currently the Grant Program Coordinator with the ELC at HCC. Tamara Jones has taught in Russia, Korea, England, Belgium and is currently the Intensive Program Coordinator with the ELC at Howard Community College. Tamara has a PhD in Education from the University of Sheffield, UK

Maryland TESOL Grants and Awards

MDTESOL offers three honors annually: the Professional Development Grant, the Ann Beusch Award, and the Lifetime Achievement Award. Please submit an application for a Professional Development Grant, and nominate a colleague for the Ann Beusch or Lifetime Achievement Award.

Please contact Yeji Yoon, MDTESOL President, with questions about the MDTESOL Grants and Awards: President@mdtesol.org

The Maryland TESOL Professional Development Grants Program

The Maryland TESOL Professional Development (PD) Grant is a small grants program that is intended to support the work of practicing teachers. The purpose of the PD Grant is to recognize individual efforts that promote, benefit and/or enhance the service to students of English as a Second Language. Through this program, MDTESOL funds projects and initiatives which cross-cut a variety of agents and our extended communities. All MDTESOL members are eligible to submit a grant application. Successful grant applications are those that will serve to connect and enhance ESL services through teachers’ initiatives. Application information is published on the MDTESOL website in the winter. Small grants of up to $1,000 will be awarded at the Annual Spring Dinner. Recipients must publicize a summary of how the award was used to benefit our profession as a presentation at the annual conference, and as a written summary to be published in the MDTESOL newsletter.

Ann Beusch Distinguished Service Award

The Ann Beusch Award was established to honor the accomplishments of former Supervisor of Foreign Languages and ESOL of the State of Maryland, Ann Beusch. The Ann Beusch Distinguished Service Award honors individuals who exemplify the spirit and dedication to international students that Ann demonstrated during her long tenure as a State Supervisor of ESOL and Foreign Languages. The award is bestowed upon individuals working outside of the fields of ESL and International Student Services who have made sustained, exemplary contributions to the ESL field and/or its students. All current members of MDTESOL are eligible to submit nominations. The award is presented at the Annual Spring Dinner.

The Maryland TESOL Lifetime Achievement Award

The Maryland TESOL (MDTESOL) Lifetime Achievement award honors individuals who throughout their years of service have exemplified dedication to ESL students and/or ESL teacher education. This award is bestowed upon individuals who have been working in Maryland for at least 15 years and who have made substantial contributions to the ESL field, its students and/or teachers, at any educational level. All current members of MDTESOL are eligible to submit nominations. All ESL professionals are eligible to be nominated, except those currently on the MDTESOL Executive Board. Nominations are reviewed in light of broad influence in the field, exemplary contributions, leadership, and sustained commitment. Up to two awards may be bestowed in any given year. The award is presented at the Annual Fall Conference.
Professional Development Opportunities with Maryland TESOL: All Year Long!

Welcome to the MDTESOL Annual Fall Conference—our capstone professional development event! However, MDTESOL offers many more opportunities for professional development. In fact, you can use MDTESOL all year long as a way to advance your career! Throughout the year, MDTESOL provides its members opportunities to

- Increase professional knowledge
- Network with current and future colleagues
- Develop leadership skills
- Get ideas known: Present and publish
- Seek funding

Increase Professional Knowledge
Attending the fall conference is one obvious way to increase professional knowledge and skill. Other ways include attending the many Interest Section events held in the spring (which often have featured speakers) and reading the biannual newsletter. Back issues of the newsletter are also available on the MDTESOL website.

Network
The fall conference is one good place to network. However, for maximum networking, you can also attend the Spring Dinner (usually held in May) and the Spring Interest Section events. In addition, consider adding your name to the ballot for the MDTESOL board. The new Board is elected during the Spring Dinner in May.

Develop Leadership Skills
Joining the Board or working as a volunteer on MDTESOL activities are great ways to develop leadership skills. Those who work with you are always happy to mentor.

Present and Publish
Next year, submit a proposal for the 2015 Maryland TESOL Annual Fall Conference. Watch for the Call for Conference Proposals in the late spring/early summer. Looking for a place to publish? Consider submitting an article to the MDTESOL newsletter. The editors will be happy to work with you.

Find a New Job
The MDTESOL website publishes job listings in the ESL field.

Seek Funding
Apply for a Professional Development Grant. (See the preceding page for details.)
Where to get more information

- MDTESOL website
  - Information about Interest Section events
  - Information about current officers
  - Information about awards, including the Professional Development Award
  - Information about job opportunities

Children at the border*

In the past nine months, more than sixty thousand children have crossed the border between Mexico and the United States. Most of these children are coming from Central America.

Children cross from Honduras, Guatemala, and El Salvador. Many of these young people travel 2,400 miles, taking more than 20 days. It is a dangerous trip. Some children fall off the train. Some die on the way.

Some mothers come with their young children. Criminals* sell, rent, and abuse* many of the children on the way. Some parents pay thousands of dollars to “coyotes” (illegal border smugglers) in order to be reunited with their children.

The children and mothers entered the United States illegally. Many arrived in Texas. They went to the Border Patrol®. They asked for asylum* in the United States.

A humanitarian* crisis*

The U.S. government was unprepared for this sudden rush of illegal immigrants. It became a humanitarian crisis. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services set up special areas to hold the large numbers of immigrants entering the country.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency* (FEMA) was supplied food, water, and shelter. Hundreds of women and children slept on mats in military tents.

Life in the U.S.A.
What comes after high school?

The last year of high school is a busy time for students. They have decisions to make: Should they get a job? Should they continue their education after they graduate high school?

Some students drop out* of high school. However, there is another way to get a high school diploma. Students can take a General Education Development (GED) test. Many colleges accept* the GED as equal to a high school diploma.

Career Day
On career day, people in different occupations* come to school to talk about their jobs. This helps students make choices about their own careers in the future.
